

MAY 21, 2017 @ 09:40 PM 399

The Little Black Book of Billionaire Secrets

Adding Organic Products To Your Beauty Routine

Sarah Boyd, CONTRIBUTOR

FULL BIO

Opinions expressed by Forbes Contributors are their own.

When it comes to food, shopping organic is easy. It doesn't take much to read ingredient labels, consider health benefits, and make smarter shopping decisions in the grocery store. But when it comes to beauty products, consumers aren't always as diligent about picking organic products. Makeup & other beauty products are often full of chemicals and synthetic materials, but lately there's been a great trend towards organic, green beauty products.

Tim Schaeffer, VP of Marketing for natural makeup brand Mineral Fusion, explained the benefits of natural beauty products, saying that "the use of natural and organic products helps minimize our daily exposure to chemical from personal care, household products, and the surrounding environment".

Mineral Fusion is one of many beauty brands focused on creating organic and environmentally friendly products. Keep scrolling to see some other brands that are making organic beauty a breeze.

Body

Beauty Kitchen by Heather Marianna Pomegranate Plum Perfection Skin Polish

Beauty Kitchen by Heather Marianna Pomegranate Plum Perfection Skin Polish | $22.50

This sugar scrub is the perfect gentle exfoliant for your body après le bain, so be sure to have it handy when you're ready for an at-home spa treatment. Simple ingredients make it a great choice for sensitive skin.

